Letting in the Light	03/06/14	£1000	Letting in the Light are a not for profit participatory arts company based in North Staffordshire. From creative consultation to hands on workshops, LitL specialise in creative thinking and are ambitious in their projects that employ both digital media and more traditional art forms. This funding would enable them to run creative remembrance activities in homes , which will promote and encourage working together through shared experience and activity, promoting interaction between individuals. Taking part in the activities will provide stimulation, social confidence and the opportunity to try new activities. From their previous projects, they know that engagement using the creative methods we are proposing will enable the residents to be able to reminisce in a non-pressured way that is responsive to their needs. The funding would go towards 10 sessions in 2 residential homes.	£4000 Part of a larger funding bid to HLF for a wider oral history project £47,000	£1500 (12/13)	£500 TCP (con) £1000 Strategic initiative Fund (con) £1500 Letting in the Light 9con)
